

To strengthen our team, we are looking for:

SAP-ILM Consultant (m/f/d)

Who is anuwo?

anuwo, a consulting firm based in Speyer, specializes in archiving consulting within the SAP environment and has established itself on the international market over the past 14 years. Our team of cross-application business consultants advises renowned national and international clients across all industries - from Speyer to the world!

What can you expect?

- Consulting in the SAP archiving environment (including ILM, decommissioning of SAP systems, migrations, and document management)
- Aligning client requirements with our global clients
- Advising our clients on establishing the best SAP archiving strategy from a process and audit perspective
- Managing and executing consulting and transformation projects in the SAP archiving environment with partners and clients

What you should bring to the table:

- A master's degree in (Business) Information Technology, Business Administration, or a comparable degree
- Approx. 5 years' professional experience as an SAP consultant – either in a technical role or cross-application in different modules as FI, EWM or others – and a desire to develop into a new, cross-functional role.
- Proven consulting success in the SAP environment
- Interest in holistic, digital business processes and document management
- Analytical thinking and a structured, solution-oriented approach to work
- Teamwork and communication skills
- Excellent written and spoken German and English
- Initiative and a sense of responsibility: ability to work independently and willingness to take on responsibility

What we can offer you!

- Your potential is our focus: we support and challenge you to perform at your best based on your individual strengths!
- On-the-job training: mentoring from experienced colleagues and teamwork
- A personal workspace with a laptop and company cell phone to help you get set up, settle in, and get to work—we'll even provide drinks and your favourite fruit
- Flexible working models
- Performance-based compensation

Interested?

Then we look forward to receiving your application and getting to know you!
